

Meet Ann Marie McGunnigle

As Landside Estimating Manager, Ann Marie has been with the IFPC team for 14 years. She supervises the estimating for the commercial and industrial division, including all flooring such as VCT, Stratica, rubber floor systems, sheet goods, epoxies, underlayment, terrazzo repair and sealers. Ann Marie's vast knowledge coupled with her dedication and commitment to each and every customer ensures that our clients experience superior service right from the beginning. IFPC's large portfolio of clients is a sound testament to Ann Marie's technical knowledge and skill.

Ms. McGunnigle credits the company's success and growth during these challenging economic times to the knowledge and expertise of IFPC's field crews and to company leaders who are willing to venture into new technologies and diverse product/service lines. "Jon and Steve have always allowed IFPC team members to step outside of "the box" so to speak. That type of leadership fosters the development of a cohesive team that is not afraid of the challenges that new opportunities pose. Our field crews are the backbone of this company; their knowledge, expertise and work ethic are what make great things happen for us. I have to say that I love this industry, and the people that I work with. But the smile on a client's face is what makes it all worthwhile," states Ms. McGunnigle.

In her leisure time, Ann Marie spends time with her family and dogs at Lake Gaston. She is an avid reader of mystery novels, and likes to participate in volleyball and softball. A frequent camper, she enjoys all things outdoors.
